Without WaterWatch, many of Oregon's rivers and streams would run dry:

In 2015, we successfully removed the last two big dams on Evans Creek (a tributary of the Rogue River), one of three mountain creeks that flow through our property and about 25 miles upstream from the Rogue River:

Oregon Department of Fish & Wildlife has subsequently confirmed that we now have Chinook Salmon, Coho Salmon, Cutthroat Trout and Steelhead in Evans Creek (a tributary of the Rogue River) and in Spignet Creek (a tributary of Evans Creek) which both flow through our property.

We are nearly always engaged with some conservation effort. Here are our most recent dam removal projects:
